

FORTUNE

Data Sheet—Friday, March 4, 2016

by Heather Clancy, Adam Lashinsky

Florida city subsidizes Uber rides. Orlando suburb Altamonte Springs will pick up part of the fare for rides within city limits. This isn't a permanent program, rather a yearlong study of how ride-sharing services affect traffic and road conditions. City officials want more citizens to use public transportation, and Uber is a convenient way to reach bus and train stations.