

Climb aboard for savings at Tree Trek Adventure

Looking for some cool summer savings?

Orlando Tree Trek Adventure Park has announced a new way for Florida residents to save while taking advantage of all their home state has to offer.

With a valid Florida ID, residents of the Sunshine State will receive 15 percent off regular admission for hours of climbing excitement at Tree Trek.

Orlando Tree Trek Adventure Park offers 97 games or challenges for climbers of all skill levels.

The park offers Orlando a thrilling tree-top experience with action-packed high ropes adventure. Tree Trek's aerial obstacle courses feature 97 games or challenges for climbers. Each course takes participants higher, until they are 50 feet atop the pine tree forest. It all culminates in a breathtaking finish as adventurers fly 425 feet down a pair of plunging zip lines.

Throughout their trek through the 15-acre park, climbers are securely clipped into a world-class safety system. Each climber is given a safety demonstration beforehand by trained instructors. Tree Trek is designed for ages 7 and up. It offers two kids courses, three junior courses and four adult courses, as well as two giant zip lines.

Kids (7-11) admission is typically $29.95, junior (9-11) admission is typically $38.95, adult admission (12+) is typically $49.95, and senior (65+) admission is typically $39.95, so the Florida resident discount means big savings.

Tree Trek also offers other ways to save, such as a discounted rate of $39.95 for active or retired military members and a rate of $25 for Florida college students.

Departures start at 8:30 a.m., with the last climbers leaving two hours before dusk. Reservations are encouraged and can be made at orlandotreetrek.com or by calling 407-309-9999.
