Adaline, 9, of Lake Mary

Check out this adorable blog! Alana Explains (alanaexplains.com) is the story of three-year-old Alana and her amazing adventures living in Orlando. She's also on Facebook and Instagram @AlanaExplains.

WOW!

GROOVY NEW PLACES AROUND TOWN

Babies, bellies and birthday parties are some of photographer Kelly Marie's favorite things. So, she opened Kabiki Photography Studio (kabikiphotography.com) as a one-stop-shop for photography, birthday parties and events. She even offers Smart Start (mommy and baby development) classes at her new studio in historic downtown Sanford.

Do you have an affection for confection and an ear for celebrity gossip? If so, you'll enjoy a night out at Sugar Factory Orlando (sugarfactory.com). Located near the Orlando Eye on International Drive, this place is part candy store, part restaurant, part ice cream parlor and all celebrity. Couture lollipops, smoking goblet cocktails and flaming ice cream sundaes are some of the most popular menu items. For the kiddos, it's all about desserts galore. Sugar Factory Orlando is also a fab birthday celebration spot!
