

5 things to know about the new “In The Game” attraction at ICON Park

Orlando's ICON Park is not only getting two more record-breaking thrill rides (Slingshot and Drop Tower), but also a whole new interactive attraction at the base of The Wheel is now open.

1. "In The Game" is now taking over a good chunk of The Wheelhouse at the base of The Wheel at ICON Park. The space was unoccupied prior.
2. The attraction has about 40 interactives. Gamers, arcade lovers, puzzle enthusiasts, and anyone craving a hands-on entertainment experience can make this an all-day event.
3. The Maze of Mirrors is unlike anything in Central Florida. It's 800 square feet, but feels like 2,000. (Only one party is allowed in at a time, for distancing).
4. There's also a 7D dark ride.
5. There's no admission fee to enter "In The Game." You just pay as you play.

To see the article live, click here.