Local College Launches Culinary Programs

Do you love cooking or want to explore a career in the culinary arts?

A new Culinary Skills Essentials diploma program has come to Dallas through Remington College's Culinary Training Center. The eight-month hybrid program offers entry-level preparation for a position in the food services industry.

In addition to online classes, an instructor-supervised kitchen at the Remington College Dallas campus, located at 9451 Lyndon B. Johnson Fwy., will provide hands-on experience. The hybrid diploma program is one of two new culinary offerings launched by the non-profit, accredited college in March. The second program is a 21-month online offering that leads to an Associate of Occupational Studies Degree in Culinary Management. The program "provides training in safety and sanitation as well as hands-on experience working in an instructor-supervised kitchen," according to the school's website.
